Wanhuida Intellectual Property proudly announces its remarkable achievements in the IP STARS 2026 rankings. The firm has secured two top-tier rankings on the prestigious platform, across "Trade mark prosecution – domestic firms" and "Trade mark disputes – domestic firms", which affirms its status as a leader in the PRC legal market. The firm has been sitting comfortably at the apex of the Chinese trademark market since 2011.

The IP STARS annual rankings identify the top law firms and lawyers across a variety of IP practice areas and more than 80 jurisdictions, making it the most comprehensive and widely respected IP practitioner guide in the legal profession. This recognition reflects Wanhuida's ongoing commitment to excellence and its ability to deliver client satisfaction.

The June 4 release also includes the list of IP Star, Rising Star and Notable Practitioner for 2026.

An IP Star is a very experienced senior IP practitioner in private practice who has been recommended by peers and/or clients as someone that is integral to the success of their firm. IP Stars are tagged according to their key practice areas, e.g. patent star and trade mark star. The 2026 IP Stars list is primarily based on research information obtained in 2025.

BAI Gang, the firm's Founding Partner and Management Committee Chair and his fellow partners and management committee members Dr. HUANG Hui and REN Haiyan are selected as "Trade mark star 2026".

A Rising Star is an up-and-coming IP practitioner who is expected to become a prominent practitioner in the future in their firm and jurisdiction. Although selection is primarily based on an individual's expertise and contributions to their firm, the research team also takes account of their activities in the IP community.

The firm's Partners DU Binbin and WANG Yuming are included in the list. Yuming and Binbin made their debut in 2021 and 2022 respectively.
